

A LITTLE OF TODAY. THEIRS FOREVER.

Before we meet you

A pregnancy keepsake for the little things before the first hello.

There is already a story. This is where a little of it stays.

Kept with love by

Print the pages you love. Leave a gap. Come back whenever you like.

THE BEGINNING

The day we found out

A big moment, told in your own words. There is no right way to have felt.

Date (roughly is fine)

Where our story began

Where were we? What happened next?

What I remember feeling

A thought, a conversation, or the first person we told.

The small details belong here too.

WHILE WE WAIT

A little of life right now

Pick a prompt. One sentence can be enough.

Today, life around us looks like...

The season, the usual routine, the things on the kitchen table.

Something I keep wondering about you...

A hope, a question, a tiny possibility.

A little thing I want to remember...

A song, a craving, a nickname, or a moment that made us smile.

You can keep these words just for yourself.

A FIRST GLIMPSE

Already a little part of us

A space for a scan, a bump photograph, or whatever feels like this chapter.

A first glimpse of you

A photograph, a drawing, or a little keepsake

The story behind this little picture

When was it? What would I like you to know about it?

A picture is lovely. The story around it is yours.

YOUR WAITING WORLD

The life you are joining

Little pieces of the world before it makes room for you.

The people waiting to meet you

Names, nicknames, and how they belong to your story.

Something we hope to share with you

A place, a tradition, a simple everyday joy.

One last little note before hello

Anything else from this chapter that feels worth keeping.

This is a keepsake, not a task list. Keep what matters to you.